The Macha Village project valorises vernacular rammed-earth building technologies and validates their continuing appropriateness for current-day use. The construction of 28 prototype dwellings and a community centre built by local residents in cooperation with volunteers has very effectively overcome concerns about the image, comfort and durability of the vernacular buildings. By adapting traditional techniques of construction to meet modern standards of building performance and seismic safety, the quality of life of the villagers has been enhanced. The project is a model for rural dwelling construction, which is affordable, sustainable and ecologically friendly.
